Sincerely,

The National Association of Manufacturers has demonstrated once again that it responsibly serves both business' interests and the national interest.

Progress has been made in our joint efforts to revitalize American industry. I am confident that American manufacturers, buttressed by the action taken by this Administration to stimulate private sector growth, will lead the way to a new dimension of prosperity shared by all our citizens.

Your leadership in marshaling public support behind my Administration's bipartisan tax cut bill contributed significantly to an enlightened national debate and prompt passage of the legislation. You were on the cutting edge of change from the beginning and your imprint is on the law.
